Life Updates: What Have You Been Up To? –
Raccontare esperienze recenti e novità

EPISODE 5 • School Corridor, Monday VOL. 1

1 Okay, spill. What have you been up to this weekend?

2 Honestly? I've just been rotting in bed. Watched an entire series. You?

3 "I've finally copped that jacket! And I've met Gaia's cousin he's proper fit."

4 Wait, you've already met him? That was fast. Have you texted him yet?"

5 Not yet. I've been too nervous. What if I crash out?

6 You won't. Just say hi. Worst case? You've tried. No cap, you've got this."

★ REMEMBER! 2 phrases you NEED:

★ "What have you been up to?" = Present Perfect Continuous for recent activities. Natural way to ask "what did you do lately?"

★ "I've just been..." / "I've finally..." = "Just" = very recently. "Finally" = after waiting. Tiny words that make Present Perfect sound native.
